

Funding for It's All About Me

Congratulations to Steve Jones, coordinator of the It's All About Me program on receiving $20,000 in funding from the Natural Sciences and Engineering Research Council of Canada. The funding is part of the federal government's PromoScience program, which offers financial support for organizations working with young Canadians to promote an understanding of science and engineering. The official announcement took place at the Simon Fraser University, Burnaby campus on July 7, 2010.

Click here for federal press release